SPARDHA: Competitive Exam Society

On 17th February 2025, SPARDHA, the Competitive Exam Society of Atma Ram Sanatan Dharma College, organized an insightful interactive session with IAS officer Kishore Kshirsagar Lakshman (Batch 2016), Commissioner, DDA, in Seminar Hall 1. The session aimed to guide aspiring civil servants by providing a deeper understanding of the UPSC examination and the responsibilities of public administration. The event commenced with a welcome address by Principal Prof. Gyantosh Kumar Jha, who emphasized the importance of early preparation for competitive exams. Mr. Lakshman offered practical strategies for UPSC preparation, stressing analytical thinking, patience, and ethical awareness as essential qualities for civil servants. Drawing from his professional experiences, he highlighted the transformative role of the bureaucracy in governance. The session featured a dynamic Q&A round, during which students explored diverse topics ranging from exam preparation to governance and AI in public policy. The session concluded with a vote of thanks by Abhash Kumar, Convener of SPARDHA. The event proved to be highly engaging and informative, leaving students inspired and better prepared for their civil services journey.
