Dr. Kumar's talk, titled "European Classical Literature: An Introduction" was an informative and exhaustive survey of over 1200 years of Greco-Roman history, including its literature. While Dr. Kumar focused on the four ages this period is conventionally divided into the Archaic age, the Classical age, the Hellenistic age, and the Roman age he also discussed the politics of erasure and canonisation, and the vagaries of naming and history formation. Most importantly, his talk contemporanized these ancient texts, stressing their relevance in the modern age with their emphasis on tolerance and accommodation.
