Speaker: Mr. Sanjivan Lal, Writer, Director and Producer of 'Bubblegum'

Tilt organised a virtual discussion on film 'Bubblegum' on 3rd March, 2021. Our annual film festival saw the critically acclaimed a renowned film director, producer, and writer as our Chief Guest, Mr. Sanjivan Lal. He's also the director of this film.

TAMASHA' 21 took place virtually on March 11th, and saw a host of activities, among which the discussion on Bubblegum was the apotheosis. The participants of the competition asked Mr. Sanjivan Lal a myriad of questions ranging from the reason for naming the film 'Bubblegum', whether the movie dealt with impaired people justly, how to meticulously set the stage for a period specific film, the reason for the particular timing of the setting, or even the inspiration behind the film. Sanjivan comprehensively, Mr. Lal answered all the questions patiently and answering pre-emptively after anticipating the question. Mr. Sanjivan Lal answered the above sometimes even questions candidly: revealing a certain disappointment with naming the film Bubblegum, which at first seemed appropriate but in hindsight not so much, similarly Mr. Sanjivan Lal was absolutely aghast with the publicity of the film which hindered it from certain becoming mainstream. Mr. Sanjivan Lal tenacity when he illustrated just how difficult setting up also showed a a period film set is alongside the pains taken to ensure a perfect casting.

Hence, this open discussion though held virtually on the fragile backs of internet servers, Mr. Sanjivan Lal sharing his little nuggets of experience proved enlightening and enriching, and absolutely worthwhile.
